SUBJECT: Email concerning McDonald's restaurants was NOT written by David Forrest

A chain email message regarding use of imported beef by McDonald's restaurants has circulated in various forms for several years. One version of the chain email falsely identifies David Forrest as the author. David Forrest is not associated in any way with the contents of the chain email.

Websites that have posted information regarding various versions of this chain email include:

Your efforts to curtail circulation of the chain email are appreciated.

Sincerely,

David Forrest
